Important choices about your occupational pension

When you are a government employee, your employer pays money into your occupational pension every month. You can choose how you wish to invest a part of the money. Read more about the options on the next page.

If you do not choose an option

If you do not make an active choice, your money will be placed in a traditional insurance with Kåpan Tjänstepension without repayment cover.

Information on the form

This is a fixed fee that you pay each year in return for the insurer's administration of your insurance.

A variable cost that the insurer charges if you choose a traditional life insurance plan. The cost consists of two parts: insurance fee and current asset management cost. If you wish to see the insurance fee and the asset management cost separately please contact us

Here you can see the insurer's average asset management performance over the past five years. If empty, this is because the insurance has not existed for five years

A fee that the insurer charges if you choose a unit-linked insurance plan. Your money is first invested in a so-called "entry solution" and then in the funds you have chosen.

Here you can see how the entrance solution has developed on average per year over the past five years. If empty, this is because the entrance solution has not existed for five years. To see which funds are included, please contact us.

This is an average of the fees charged for all funds included in each fund group. If you wish to see the fee for each fund, please contact us

How to fill in the form

1 Choose a form of savings and insurer

You can choose between traditional insurance or unit-linked insurance.

In a traditional insurance plan, it is the insurer that decides how your money is invested. The insurer invests the money in, e.g., interest-bearing securities, in shares and real estate and manages your investment. You always have a guaranteed pension. What the guarantee will be varies between insurers. For example, it may be a guarantee that promises that you will get back the money put in when you retire.

In a unit-linked insurance plan, you can decide how your money should be invested by choosing one or more funds. Money invested in mutual funds can both decrease and increase; pension cannot be guaranteed.

Then you must choose which insurer you want to manage your money. You can see what fees the various insurers charge to manage your money. If you choose an insurer for unit-linked insurance, your money is first placed in a so-called “entry solution” at the insurer. Then you choose funds from the insurer.

2 Choose whether you want repayment cover

Repayment cover means that your survivors (spouse, registered partner, cohabitant, children) will receive your money if you die. It also means that your own occupational pension will be lower than without repayment cover.

You have the possibility to remove the repayment cover at a later date.

The rules for adding repayment protection later may vary between different insurers. If you are single and do not have children you should not choose repayment cover.

Remember that through your employment you have financial protection in the form of a survivor's pension and group life insurance for your survivors. Read more at spv.se.
